PRODUCTION: From the creative minds of Hiro Koga, the creator of METAL GEAR SOLID, and Kojima, the heart of the YUKI team. A new point of view. MOBILE GAME DESIGNER: It has been over 30 years since I created the YUKI team, and we've been striving toward a new and exhilarating world by making games, and selling them in the same world. At this moment in time I feel that we've finally reached an age where we can reveal our grandest dreams. The quality of both the game system and the RPG are at a high level, and the User Interface is unique compared to other game systems. SCREENPLAY & GRAPHICS: The game and the User Interface were designed to allow you to be immersed in the epic story, so that you can relive this story in your own imagination. We worked on the adventure story carefully to make it feel like it is alive, and to resonate with you. For instance, we developed a user interface in which you are able to freely rotate the viewpoint of your own character. YUKI is a brand that produces the heart of the game on the whole. We designed a game that can become the present to the next generation. GAMEPLAY Players who love grinding may feel that the new game is too much of a grind. We did take into account that fact, and we are trying to give you as much content as possible without boring you. We are doing our best to make the experience of the games as enjoyable as possible. OVERHAUL Even though the new title has been revealed recently, we have been hard at work on the game since the release of previous titles. We have been giving the game a major overhaul in the past three years. We have done many research and development in order to be able to achieve this. As a result, we have implemented a number of fun and exciting new elements. SYSTEMS The game contains extensive systems that have not been included before. The campaign system has been greatly improved, and is designed so that no matter how many times you play, you can make it far. We want the battle system to be easy to understand, making it easier for you to grow as a player. EMERGING GAME DESIGNER: bff6bb2d33

Image copyright SWNS Image caption The shark was found on a beach near George Cross in the Isle of Man A bite from a 17ft great white shark has left a teenage boy with serious injuries on an Isle of Man beach. Amin Said, 14, was playing football on the beach at George Cross in Easter Bar when he was bitten on the leg. The shark was found on a beach near George Cross in the Isle of Man. It was about 8ft long and was about three quarters of a mile off shore. The teenager was flown to hospital by Royal Coastguard helicopter and rushed into surgery. The incident is being treated as a significant incident and the local police has advised people to stay clear of the area. Amin's father Ghadeer told the BBC: "We heard there was a shark in the sea about 10am and when I was in the shower the boy was in the bedroom. "I went to the beach to see if he was all right and he didn't answer the door so I went round the back. "I called him to the bedroom and he had this large wound on his leg." Image caption George Cross beach was the scene of a fatal attack in October He said: "I put some tourniquets around his legs and called an ambulance. "He was moaning and he wasn't opening his eyes and he was very cold. "He's a very, very tough boy. I told him to stay in bed and keep warm because they were transporting him to hospital to have surgery done." George Cross beach was the site of a fatal attack by a great white shark in October. Amin's father said: "We were worried to go swimming there because of the incident in October. "I think it can happen anywhere so we keep the boys away from the sea." Amin Said was taken to the Royal Hospital in Douglas and told to expect to spend at least another four hours in hospital.
